Community Stories: Soldiers Home & Away
Various Activities September - Nov
Book Discussion:
   Tuesday, October 18, 1:30PM
   and 6:30PM
Film Marathon:
   Saturday, November 5

This fall, nine southern New Hampshire libraries come together to promote community reading and to recognize the contributions of veterans, active military and their families. The project will bring over 50 free events to NH between September 16 and November 12. The purpose is to foster understanding of the men and women returning home from deployment; address the experience of war from the perspective of civilians, veterans and active duty personnel; and open lines of communication.

The project is inspired by Vietnam veteran Tim O'Brien's novel The Things They Carried, a fictionalized account of experiences, memories and meditations on war. Copies of the book are available at the library. The library will hold two discussions about The Things They Carried on Tuesday, October 18, one at 1:30PM and one at 6:30PM. Veterans of any conflict are invited to come and share their experiences as part of the discussion. The library will also be hosting a Vietnam War film marathon on Saturday, November 5.

These programs are supported by NH Humanities.

We all hear about how good meditation is for us, but how can we fit it in? In this interactive presentation, we'll discuss the how and why of meditation. We'll learn some basic techniques that can be done at any time of the day, none of which involve sitting cross-legged on a pillow with your eyes closed. You'll leave with a handout detailing simple ways to practice meditation during your day-to-day life.

Presented by Master Life Coach Diane MacKinnon, M.D. Registration requested, walk-ins welcome.

The presentation will cover foods and herbs which have been shown to have remedial effects on the human body for various ailments and for the prevention of illnesses. For example, the herb bilberry was first discovered in WWII, when the night bombing pilots out of Britain started to eat bilberry jam sandwiches, and reported to their superiors that they could see their targets better. Come learn more about how the food you eat can help you stay healthy.
